COMMENTS/HISTORICAL INFORMATION:

Presently vacant and deteriorating, this is a modest one-story, linear-plan dwelling under a side-gabled roof. The foundation is not visible. Wood siding sheathes the walls, and roll roofing covers the roof. The windows contain 6/6 sash. The balanced facade contains a doorway and two windows. The roof extends over a shallow, shed-roofed porch, which extends across about two-thirds of the facade; it is supported by plain wood posts, and newer lattice panels serve as a balustrade. A newer stovepipe juts out from the front roof slope.

Beside the driveway is an open-faced frame equipment shed. Sandstone steps lead part of the way up the hill north of the house.
